Mobilities with our partner from Spain:

March and May 2026

Vedruna Escorial in Vic

Subject:

Convention on the Rights of the Child

The students intensively studied the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child.

In international groups, they selected three articles of the convention and examined them in greater detail.

The first task was to present one of their chosen articles as a poster, film, or in some other format.

The second and third articles were part of a larger project. First, the students received a short graffiti course and learned the most important techniques. This course was led by a well-known graffiti artist from the region. Afterward, working in groups, they artistically represented their chosen article as graffiti on a 2x2 meter wooden canvas. This resulted in five large wooden canvases, which are now regularly displayed at school events.

The third selected article was handed over to the graffiti artist, who created a huge graffiti at the school entrance from all the suggestions and design requests.

(Kinder haben Rechte = Children have rights)

At the very end, the students presented all their work and explained their intentions.

Another day was spent at the community's youth center. Here, the students learned a lot about the implementation of children's rights in the community through child and youth social workers.

A lot of work was also done in group sessions.
